

IVanish - What was I thinking?!

I guess this is why I should never give a quick impression on a new trick or DVD. I fell victim to the novelty here and failed to realize how bad this really is.

I don't get too caught up in the safety stuff - I'm tired of warnings, security and other PC concerns, but I would hope a normal thinking person would take the necessary precautions. Those that can't see the issue are too dumb to live anyway. I believe it's called Darwin's Law.

I guess this might be useful for grossing out the local space queens, but those of us that try to maintain a degree of decorum and dignity in our shows will find it useless.

This may tarnish Bob Kohler's reputation for quality products - only time will tell.

Take care.....

