

about

This is not your father's magic blog.

You never know what will spew out. Hopefully you will find our (yes our) observations educational and entertaining. At times we will comment on other items and that is usually no place for the kiddies.

We welcome you comments and censor nothing except personal attacks - at times.